Colleagues,

IF the call is able to go forward next week, I will be able to join after all.

Happy new year!

Adina,

Thank you very much for sharing the white paper.

On the call timing, I don't think we have much flexibility to move the call on the 8th, but we would be happy to find another time for a couple of us to chat with you. Would you let us know some other times that week that would work well for you?

All the best, and happy holidays,

Kate

Katherine and colleagues,

Thank you for the continuous outreach and opportunity to converge on these issues. If it helps before this call, I have put together the attached "white paper" on Norway's revised proposals – a document I welcome you to use internally in preparation for gov2gov discussions on the topic but please don't share it as an ISRI position paper.

Also, I have a long shot question – if there is any flexibility on the time for this call, I would be grateful. I am tied up 10:30-12 that day without flexibility – pretty much the only time block not available that whole week!

I wish you all the very best this holiday season and into the new year!

Regards,

Adina

Subject: Industry Stakeholder Call on Norway's Proposed Amendments to the Basel Convention

Dear colleagues,

As we flagged previously, Norway has put forward the attached proposals to amend annexes II, VIII, and IX of the Basel Convention, which are related to plastic wastes and are an update of proposals submitted in advance of September's Basel Open-Ended Working Group. The proposals will be considered for adoption at COP-14, which will take place April 29-May 10 in Geneva.

We invite you to join an industry stakeholder call on these proposals on Tuesday, January 8 from 11 AM-12 PM. Call-in information is:

[REDACTED]

Access Code: [REDACTED]

We will use the call to share initial U.S. views on these proposals, and to hear your views. We also welcome any views in writing, either before or after the call. In the months leading up to the COP next spring, we plan to consult with several other countries. We will use your input to inform our position in advance of those consultations.

Many thanks,

Kate
